New York stands on the edge of history

► With only one more vote needed, New York is closer than ever before to passing historic gay marriage legislation ► Vote could occur tomorrow

► A recent Siena poll found 58 percent of New Yorkers support same-sex marriage.

All they need is one more vote. New York could become the sixth U.S. state to allow same-sex marriage, if the state Senate votes tomorrow on a gay-marriage bill Gov. Andrew Cuomo introduced Tuesday.

That bill needs support from just one more senator to pass. Cuomo has said in the past he wouldn't introduce the bill unless he was sure it had enough support to become law.

"We've never been this close before," said Dirk McCall, director of the Bronx Community Pride Center. "We're on the cusp; we just need one more Republican."

The final vote

Which previously opposed senator will say "I do" to gay marriage in New York?

► Yesterday, Republican Staten Island Sen. Andrew Lanza, usually a constant voice against gay marriage, said he is thinking about the legislation.

"I think even if Jesus asked for his [Sen. Ruben Diaz] support for equality, he would say no." DIRK MCCALL

► "This is the first time I find myself in a position where I am struggling with respect to ascertaining what the right thing to do here is," Lanza said.

► Republican Sen. Mark Grisanti of Buffalo is switching his public position from "no" to "undecided," according to NY 1.

If the Republican-controlled Senate decides to bring the bill up for a vote, it would likely do so tomorrow, as lawmakers break on Monday for a lengthy recess.

Earlier this week, five state senators who previously voted against the bill said they are now in favor. Their switch gives the legislation the support of 31 senators, with 32 needed for approval.

New York's Democrat-dominated Assembly has easily passed a bill legalizing same-sex marriage three times in recent years, and were expected to do so again last night.

But the bill has always stalled in the Senate. Sen. Ruben Diaz, a Pentecostal minister from the Bronx, is the only Democratic senator who does not support same-sex marriage.

Cuomo: Now is the time

NEW YORK. Cuomo, a Democrat in his first year in office, vowed to make same-sex marriage a priority during the final weeks of the legislative session. "For too long, same-sex couples have been denied the freedom to marry, as well as hundreds of rights that other New Yorkers take for granted," said Cuomo. McCall praised Cuomo's political skills, making progress on gay marriage where Eliot Spitzer and David Paterson before him have failed. "Gov. Cuomo had the right strategy this time," said McCall. "He knows how to work the Legislature."

Tied up, robbed at home

RIVERDALE. Police are looking for two men who they say tied up and robbed a man and woman inside their home in the tony Riverdale section of the Bronx. On Wednesday,

June 1, the two men entered a building just after 8 a.m. and knocked on an apartment door. When a man, 57, answered the suspects, both armed with guns, forced their way in and tied up both him and a 19-year-old woman inside. The men then stole jewelry and electronics from the home and fled, said police. There were no reported injuries. ● METRO/EAE

▶ Ginger Lee says the congressman asked her to fib, would cooperate with ethics investigation ▶ Porn star says Weiner should resign because he lied

Porn star Ginger Lee said yesterday embattled Congressman Anthony Weiner asked her to lie about their e-mail relationship in the hope that the Internet sex scandal surrounding him would die down.

Lee, a stripper, said her exchanges with the New York Democratic lawmaker began with political discussions of abortion rights and health care but Weiner kept trying to sexualize the conversation. She said she never reciprocated his lewd messages.

"He asked me to lie about our communication," Lee told a news conference in New York, flanked by celebrity attorney Gloria Allred. "I knew I couldn't lie for him but I didn't want to be the one who kicked

"I think that Anthony Weiner should resign because he lied. He lied to the public and the press for more than a week," she said. "If he lied about this, I can't have much faith in him about anything else."

Rangel sells condo that got him into mess

NEW YORK. U.S. Rep. Charles Rangel, censured last year by the House for ethics violations, sold his Dominican Republic villa that prominently figured in the charges.

Rangel's transaction was divulged in financial disclosure forms released yesterday for members of the House and Senate. They offer a picture of the financial holdings and dealings of the lawmakers, listed in broad ranges rather than exact amounts.

Rangel, a New York Democrat, reported selling the Punta Cana Beach villa in December for between $250,000 and $500,000.

$75K

Worth of rental income on the Punta Cana villa Rangel admitted he failed to pay in taxes.

The 81-year-old lawmaker became the first House member censured in 27 years when the House rebuked him last December.

The charges against Rangel included his failure to pay taxes for 17 years on rental income from the villa. As part of its resolution, the House voted to require him to pay those taxes.

Wall Street's very own iSymphony

Make Music New York has teamed up with a Brooklyn composer to bring music to the streets outside the New York Stock Exchange.

On June 21, iPhone users who have downloaded the GROUP application will convene at the corner of Broad and Wall Streets for their first recital, of which Metro is a sponsor.

At precisely 12:45 p.m. the iPhones will emit a dense drone, growing louder and more complicated over the course of ten minutes, culminating at 12:55 p.m. with a chorus of 216 unique notes.

"When we think about technology, we think about how isolating it is," said composer Aaron Siegel, 34, the visionary of the event. "But for GROUP, you need the people around you to complete the symphony."

Siegel said he specifically chose Wall Street. "It's not thought of as an art-making place," he said.

Marijuana on menu in Albany

Ex-cop agrees

NEW YORK. Even some former NYPD officers are behind Jeffries' bill.

"I don't think any officer has any delusions about what good marijuana arrests do for the city,"

15%

Possession for minor amounts of marijuana is the number one cause of arrests, making up 15 percent of total arrests in New York City.

said Bronx native and NYPD veteran Joanne Naughton.

Naughton served in the NYPD for 20 years, working as an undercover police officer in the narcotics division, and saw firsthand how current drug laws cost taxpayers needless money, destroy lives and don't affect change, she said.

"Treating drug use as a crime is not a solution. It's a health problem," Naughton said. ● METRO/EAE

- Bill aims to make minor pot possession merely a violation
- Disproportionate numbers of minorities arrested for carrying it

More than 50,000 people were arrested for possessing small amounts of marijuana in New York City in 2010.

Brooklyn state Assemblyman Hakeem Jeffries doesn't want that number to go any higher. Jeffries is proposing a bill that would make minor pot possession a violation, similar to getting a parking ticket, instead of an arrest and misdemeanor charge.

Thirty years ago, New York State decriminalized minor possession of marijuana, making private possession of 25 grams or less a violation, punishable by a $100 fine. However, a public display of the same amount is a misdemeanor, punishable by jail time.

Jeffries says that police officers exploit this loophole during "stop-and-frisk" searches, in which police force citizens, typically black or Latino New Yorkers, to display their personal marijuana and then ar-

High cost

Each marijuana arrest costs the city between $1,000 and $2,000, Jeffries says.

New York taxpayers are spending about $75 million every year on arresting people for possessing small amounts of marijuana, according to Jeffries.

rest them on the charge that it was made public.

"Most of these arrests are the result of illegal frisks and searches," said Jeffries.

Jeffries wants to close this loophole and standardize the punishment for both private and public minor pot possession.

Republican state Sen. Mark Grisanti sponsored the bill, making the effort to reform the policy bipartisan and potentially viable.

Academy Awards revise 10 Best Picture nod rule

► They won't stretch to nominate 10 if there aren't enough worthy films

Finally, the voice of reason: It was revealed this week that the Academy for Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is going to scale back the Best Picture nomination category. Now, between five and 10 films may be nominated.

"A best picture nomination should be an indication of extraordinary merit," said retiring Academy executive director Bruce Davis. "If there are only eight pictures that truly earn that honor in a given year, we shouldn't feel an obligation to round out the number."

Hmm, I think we can pinpoint a few times this has happened already during the two years the 10-nominee rule was in effect. Did anyone really think "The Kids Are Alright" or "127 Hours" or "Toy Story 3" was true a Best Picture contender? What about 2009 films "The Blind Side" and "An Education?" All these films were good, but picturing any of them winning the Best Picture Oscar seemed improbable.

Could this be an admission that, more often than not, the major studios can't manage to put out 10 outstanding films a year? Most likely.

Mobile phones are safe after all?

NEW YORK. Brain tumors among cell phone users are not clustered within range of most of the radiation emitted from the devices, a new report finds — suggesting that mobile phones do not cause cancer.

Moreover, people who had used mobile phones for the longest amount of time, and spent the most time on the phones, were no more likely to experience tumors located within 5 centimeters of the phone, where "90 percent of the radiation" is emitted, study author Dr. Suvi Larjavaara from the University of Tampere in Finland told Reuters Health.

These findings appeared as the World Health Organization announced that, upon review of available scientific evidence, cell phones should be classified as "possibly carcinogenic."

Although the results of the Finnish study may be reassuring, they are certainly not conclusive, Larjavaara cautioned.

Cancer can take a long time to develop, and only 5 percent of the people included in the study had been using mobile phones for at least 10 years, the authors note in the American Journal of Epidemiology.

Moving out of Palin's shadow

WASHINGTON. For months, Republicans Michele Bachmann and Sarah Palin were portrayed as political twins, the fiery Tea Party favorites who would vie to lead a conservative assault on President Barack Obama.

But with her entry in the 2012 Republican nominating battle and a strong debate performance, Bachmann has quickly moved out of Palin's shadow and on to the national stage with newfound credibility. REUTERS

Greek PM plans to reshuffle gov't

ATHENS. Greek Prime Minister George Papandreou said he will form a new cabinet and seek a vote of confidence from his fractious Socialist party to see through a harsh austerity bill, the target of major protests.

The move followed a Papandreou offer to step down and form a unity government with opposition parties, a gesture he abandoned after the conservative New Democracy demanded Athens renegotiate its year-old, 110-billion-euro international bailout. REUTERS

Silicon Valley gets tech housing boost

► As companies go public, newly wealthy workers look to invest south of San Francisco ► Median price in area jumped 20 percent in the last year

A surge in wealth from technology stock sales and initial public offerings is spilling into the Silicon Valley real estate market as newly rich workers bid up home values in suburban cities south of San Francisco.

The median price of single-family houses sold in Palo Alto, home of Facebook Inc., climbed 20 percent in May from a year earlier to $1.63 million, the biggest jump since 2008, according to preliminary figures from research company DataQuick. In Mountain View, the base of LinkedIn Corp., prices rose 3.1 percent to $957,500, the ninth year-over-year gain in 12 months.

The advances are defying a U.S. housing slump

Almost 300 companies have filed for IPOs in 2011, the most for any year during the same period since 2000, and more than 10 percent of those are in California that has sent national values to an eight-year low. Share sales such as the IPO of LinkedIn — which doubled on its first day of trading — and an expected offering from Facebook will fuel a boom in some Silicon Valley cities into 2013, said Kenneth Rosen, an economist at the University of California, Berkeley.

Comparatively

Housing in much of the rest of the nation is struggling as foreclosures and unemployment of more than 9 percent weigh on consumer sentiment. Home prices in 20 U.S. cities dropped 3.6 percent in March from a year earlier to the lowest since 2003, according to a property value index.

"It's just the beginning of the story and I suspect we'll see an explosion in the next couple years," Rosen, chairman of the school's Fisher Center for Real Estate and Urban Economics, said in a telephone interview. "You've got young people with real money, and it's not surprising they want to have a house." BLOOMBERG

► Flags bearing Pandora's name hang outside the New York Stock Exchange yesterday as the company went public.

SEC seeks additional broker oversight

WASHINGTON. Securities brokers would be more closely scrutinized by auditors and be subject to stricter oversight of their handling of customers' assets under a plan proposed by federal regulators yesterday.

The proposal by the Securities and Exchange Commission is meant to improve oversight of broker-dealers in the wake of Bernard Madoff's massive Ponzi scheme.

The SEC failed to catch Madoff's scheme despite multiple tips and agency examinations of his operations. Investors are still seeking to recover billions of dollars. REUTERS

Pandora stock for song? Nope

Pandora Media Inc. made a splashy public debut as investors shrugged off years of financial losses by the online radio company for the chance to get in on the red-hot market for startups.

Shares of Pandora, the latest Web company to test the public markets, soared as much as 48 percent yesterday before handing back those gains to finish 9 percent higher.

"Pandora is incredibly enticing at a surface level because millions ... of people are using it. I think there is a love factor that is getting investors interested in it."

LAZARD CAPITAL MARKETS ANALYST BARTON CROCKETT

Although Pandora was the second biggest gainer on the New York Stock Exchange, the company could not avoid criticism by those who raised doubts about its business model and warned the market could be bound for another bubble.

One major concern about Pandora: The bigger its audience gets, the more it must pay to record labels, hurting its chances of turning a profit.

CEO Joseph Kennedy said there was no timeline to turn a profit, though a larger audience should attract advertising dollars.

The stock closed the day at $17.42, above its IPO price of $16 a share, bucking the broader market sell-off and implying a total value of $2.8 billion for the company.

Sarah becomes monkey mom

Here's a trendy new hair accessory. A pygmy marmoset named Reillo rests on top of 26-year-old zookeeper Sarah Jurgens, at the Lincoln Children's Zoo in Nebraska.

Sarah has nursed Reillo since he was abandoned by his parents shortly after his birth.

Reillo is said to be the world's only surviving hand-raised pygmy marmoset this year. Some zoologists think round-the-clock human care interferes with the learning process animals normally receive from their natural parents. Metro's Monica Weymouth shares her take on the world of gossip • @monicaatmetro • monica.weymouth@metro.us

— Dorothy Robinson will return on Monday

Why there won't be a new Mrs. Hef

We still can't believe Crystal Harris called off her wedding to Hugh Hefner. And the more we learn about it, the more suspicious it all sounds.

Yesterday, in a call to Ryan Seacrest's morning radio show, the 25-year-old claimed she had been doubting this week-end's nuptials because of Hefner's "lifestyle," and that the decision was a low-drama, mutual one. "We both agreed that it's not in the cards for us. We had a long talk about it. I feel happy and at peace that everything will be OK, and I respect him more than anything, and we're still going to be really close," she explained.

You know what she doesn't explain? Why a seemingly level-headed 25-year-old gets engaged to Hugh Hefner. This was all so much easier when we assumed it was for money.

Hef, what have you got to say about all of this? "Since we're not getting married on Saturday, I've scheduled a movie: Runaway Bride," he tweeted Tuesday.

Hefner and Harris

We're sorry, January Jones!

The last time I filled in on this column, I made some snide little remark about January Jones being as frosty as her "Mad Men" character. But loyal Word reader Maria Grande wrote in to correct me: "One day on my lunch hour I happened upon January Jones walking up Madison Avenue. She was in town doing 'SNL.' I approached and told her that I was a big fan of the show and asked if she would be back for the next season. The thing that really surprised me about Ms. Jones is that she is the antithesis of Betty Draper. Here I was a complete stranger and she was so open and warm. She even shook my hand and thanked me."

So not only is Jones beautiful, rich, skinny, and paid to make out with Jon Hamm, she's also sweet. Suddenly, I don't like her again.

Jones

Here comes another bride

If you thought there was too much royal wedding coverage, just wait until November: Bella Swan and Edward Cullen tie the knot in the next "Twilight" flick. And to start the mania, Summit

Talking points

Justin learning to relax

Justin Timberlake has revealed one of his preferred relaxation techniques: smoking marijuana. "The only thing pot does for me is it gets me to stop thinking," Timberlake tells Playboy. "Sometimes I have a brain that needs to be turned off. Some people are just better high." And after working his way from a teen sensation to a successful grown-up musi-

▶ Schwarzenegger

Millepied, met on the set of "Black Swan" and are engaged. Portman has already confirmed she'll be avoiding the Hollywood spotlight for the time-being: "I'll be out of the public eye after [the baby's born]," Portman told People.

Arnold's mistress speaks

Mildred Baena, the former housekeeper and mother of Arnold Schwarzenegger's illegitimate son, is speaking out, telling Hello! magazine that it was the former California governor's wife, Maria Shriver, that finally brought the issue to light. "Finally, she asked point blank. Maria asked me directly if Joseph was Arnold's son, and I just broke down. I dropped to my knees and I was crying, saying that yes he was and I was so sorry," Baena remembers.

► Noah Wyle stars in "Falling Skies."

3 Must-see new TV series

'Falling Skies'

Premiering Sunday at 9 p.m. on TNT

Six months after an alien invasion of Earth, viewers are introduced to Noah Wyle's Tom Mason, a former history professor and widower who is forced into a monster-fighting hero role in this Steven Spielberg-produced series.

"[Tom] becomes the author of the next set of history," Wyle says of his character.

"Since the reset button on humanity has been pushed, the survivors will become the authors of the next gospels or constitution or whatever framework society is going to have to live under."

► Jason Gann stars in "Wilfred."

'Wilfred'

Premiering June 23 at 10 p.m. on FX

The plot of imported Australian comedy "Wilfred" is a bit difficult to explain. So we'll allow star Elijah Wood to do the heavy lifting: "It's about a man who befriends a dog who he sees as a man in a dog suit, right, and the sort of comedy that ensues in the world around them. And ... the dog smokes pot. Yeah."

If comparing it to previous works helps any, the James Stewart film "Harvey" comes to mind. "There's that aspect of that imaginary character relationship that I find really interesting," Wood says.

► "Torchwood"

'Torchwood: Miracle Day'

Premiering July 8 at 10 p.m. on Starz

"Torchwood" viewers are a fanatical bunch when it comes to their team of alien hunters. But when the series returns with "Miracle Day" — referring to a phenomenon that has caused humans to live forever — fans shouldn't fret when creator Russell T. Davies calls this a "new launch."

"What this new iteration [asks is] ... 'What is society going to do now?'" says Davies. "Some of those answers are beautiful and some are terrifying. I like this forum of [sci-fi]."

10 Films to catch in theaters this weekend

2 'Mr. Popper's Penguins' Jim Carrey, as a somewhat self-absorbed dad, is forced to rethink his priorities once he inherits six penguins. And no, they don't talk.

3 'Super 8' One of the most highly anticipated films of the summer, J.J. Abrams' latest monster movie is finally in theaters. It's kind of like "E.T." meets "Goonies" meets "Cloverfield," which can only be a good thing.

4 'Judy Moody and the NOT Bummer Summer' This summer's "Ramona and Beezus" features a plucky third grader sent to stay with her wacky aunt Opal (played by Heather Graham) for the summer.

5 'X-Men: First Class' It's the first time in a while that we can feel genuinely psyched for an X-Men movie, and this one definitely brings the goods as it portrays the beginnings of the X-Men clan in the 1960s.

6 'The Hangover Part II' The men of the wolf pack are back for another evening of unintentional debauchery, this time in Bangkok.

Must-see

'Green Lantern'

1 Ryan Reynolds saving lives in a skin-tight suit? Yes, we'll take it, thanks. This comic-book adaptation celebrates one of the less notable superheroes, but with the support of co-stars Tim Robbins, Blake Lively and Peter Sarsgaard, this "Lantern" won't go dim.

7 'Kung Fu Panda 2' Martial arts-performing animals join forces again against an even more insidious enemy. The voices of Jack Black and Angelina Jolie return.

8 'Tree of Life' Terrence Malick's epic tale of the creation of Earth interwoven with the story of a young boy growing up in 1950s Texas earned him the Palme d'Or at Cannes this year. For arty types, this is a must-see experience.

9 'Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides' This Disney franchise's fourth installment is such a big deal that no other studios dared to put out a major release on the same weekend it came out. This time around, Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp) pairs up with Angelica (Penelope Cruz) for another swashbuckling adventure.

10 'Midnight in Paris' Woody Allen's newest movie is easily one of his best in years. Owen Wilson stars as a tourist in Paris who gets swept away to 1920s France each night to socialize with F. Scott Fitzgerald, Picasso and Hemingway.

New York state of mind

► Hooray for Earth were once a Boston band ► A fateful Big Apple move helped free singer Noel Heroux

Shortly after forming in Boston in 2006, Hooray for Earth's creative compass, Noel Heroux pointed his sights south and moved to NYC. But while the band may have separated geographically, Heroux's vision of their sound became clearer than ever.

"I love Boston, but as a place to live it was bad for me," says Heroux. "I was bubbling myself off from the rest of the world, and I really wasn't doing anything I liked."

Once known for spacey-noise rock, many longtime fans were surprised at H4E's electronic sonic evolution. Heroux says the change of heart happened shortly after the change of scenery.

"I didn't like the same sound," he says. "My mind opened up and I was excited to do new things."

On Hooray for Earth's recent release, "True Loves," his lyrics do seem more positive, but the music still conjures an ethereal darkness.

"When I moved, I was at ease and immediately felt comfortable," he says. "I took a year and my attitude evened out."

► Heroux, far right, promises he still loves Boston.

H4E is a guitar band!

While the sound is big enough to fill an arena, "True Loves" was actually made in a bedroom. Fleshed out with the band and producer Chris Coady, the result is great for headphone listening and prime for the next wave of the space age — but don't call it synth-pop.

"We're largely based around guitars," Heroux says. "I think a lot of what people think are synths are actually modulated, low-tuned and out-of-tune guitars. I also did so much vocal sampling and manipulation that it just comes across that way."

going out

Cocktail of the week

Bottoms up for NYC Cocktail Week

The first-ever New York City Cocktail Week is going on now through June 29. In honor of the event, some of the city's best cocktail bars, including Death & Company, Clover Club, Lani Kai and La Biblioteca de Tequila, will offer two cocktails and one appetizer for just $20.11, with the proceeds benefiting City Harvest and the Museum of the American Cocktail. The Roselle (recipe below), will be on the menu at Employees Only, along with such appetizers as chicken and pork belly dumplings.

by DOROTHY ROBINSON

The Roselle Ingredients

► 1½ ounces Tanqueray

► For more info, go to <http://liquor.com/nyc-cocktail-week>.

10 gin

► 1 ounce Employees Only Homemade Hibiscus Cordial

► ¼ ounce freshly squeezed lime juice

► ½ ounce freshly squeezed grapefruit juice

Directions

Pour all ingredients into a mixing glass. Add large cold ice and shake vigorously. Strain into a chilled cocktail glass.

— Recipe courtesy of Dushan Zaric, Employees Only

Give me some sugar

- Top dessert chef offers tips on picking the perfect sweet treat
- What you can make on your own

Your dessert decisions deserve to be as well-informed as your entrée selections. So we asked Ron Paprocki, executive pastry chef at Gordon Ramsay at The London, for tips on how to make the most of a restaurant's after-dinner offerings.

Wine for dessert

"Acidity plays an important role in determining how to pair wine with a dessert," says Paprocki. "A fruity, acidic dessert would pair well with a less acidic wine. Opposites attract, more or less." If you're still confused, don't hesitate to ask for help. "Really, the best thing to do is to ask the sommelier," the chef says. "That's their profession."

Sweets at home — no culinary degree necessary

"Chocolate mousse is fairly simple to make at home," he says. "At Gordon Ramsay, the type of fine dining desserts [we do are] just a bunch of simple to intermediate skill-level items that are put together." Take his twist on pound cake, for example. "You can make a simple pound cake and then [slice it], soak it with a framboise liqueur and simple syrup, top with fresh berries and serve with a nice ricotta or custard," he says.

Pastry chef dessert hangouts

► Ron Paprocki is the executive pastry chef at Gordon Ramsay at The London (151 W. 54th St., 212-468-8888), where he says right now "we have a really nice dessert on the menu with white peaches."

Q&A: Berry much

What fruits are in season right now?

► Strawberries, Paprocki says, and stone fruits like plums, apricots and peaches. "Blueberries, raspberries, red currants and Bing cherries are [also] really nice local fruits to use in the summertime," he says.

9559). I love the ice creams there," Paprocki says. "Locanda Verde (377 Greenwich St., 212-925-3797) has delicious desserts. The chocolate budino with creme fraiche gelato is delicious. It's smooth, crunchy, creamy, chocolatey — everything you'd want to finish a great meal."

Michael J. Vignola: 'It's all Gravy, baby'

Hot chef

► Michael J. Vignola's Gravy is offering a "Hurricane Happy Hour" every Thursday from 4 to 7 p.m., when you can enjoy the drink for $6.

Michael J. Vignola, the former executive chef of Michael Jordan's: The Steakhouse N.Y.C., decided to devote the next phase of his career to devising and implementing the menu at Gravy, the recently opened fine Southern dining restaurant in the Flatiron. Here's how he knew his version of the South would rise again.

Why did you decide to tackle Southern cuisine?

I really love the land and the area and I think there is amazing influence and flavors — the African, Italian,

French and the Cajun. They really praise food down there and I really just enjoy the culture and history of it. What is the most surprising thing about Southern

Gravy?

"It's a name that I've had in my head. Consider it more of a sauce, but it's really about attitude — 'it's all gravy, baby' — and way of living and not getting so serious and overwhelmed. That everything will be all right."

cooking?

I didn't realize how much they lived off the land and how really rooted in seasonal ingredients they are. They were into very local things before it got popular. Also: How much food came from the slave trade and how to use indigenous greens like okra.

What's your favorite thing on the menu to cook?

I love the duck dish with the recirculated [slow-poached] egg and the Sullivan-Island Bog, which is my play on the Jambalaya.

What's the one dish you make

to impress someone?

My wife loves the scallops on the menu. But if I was going to impress someone, I'd roast something nice and slow so it would fill up the whole house with the smell. But we have a newborn at home, so it would have to be something quick we can eat at midnight [laughs].

Obama is no superman

RE: "CAPITALISM'S WORST WARRIOR": Obama did not "save" any industries and TARP (the bank bailout) was a Bush policy! The bank and auto bailouts simply reward and encourage risky behavior. The banks and auto industries do not represent capitalism; they represent corporatism (AKA fascism). We, the average citizens, pay for bailouts with taxes and inflation. Universal health care will be an economic disaster like social security and Medicare and Medicaid. You may as well get treated at your local post office.

KELLY DONNOE, LYNBROOK

Fixing a mess takes time

RE: "OBAMA: SECRET CAPITALIST": Have you ever seen boys playing with Legos? They build something up then they destroy it. How long do you think it takes to pick up the scattered pieces and rebuild? Even longer than it would to build it in the first place. So four years of rebuilding compared to the eight years of wreaking havoc is still just the beginning.

ALICE THAI, VIA E-MAIL

Out of touch with reality

Republican extremists are as out of touch with reality as when they referred derisively to the "reality-based" community. (They prefer faith-based economic policy.) The economy is not doing as well as it should — Republicans, along with conservative Democrats, blocked much of what would have helped. Yet the Far Wrong has forgotten that in the waning months of the Bush administration "good" economic news was when fewer jobs were lost than expected. Now the economy isn't creating jobs fast enough, but it is creating them.

DAN WYLIE-SEARS, VIA E-MAIL

They are the puppetmasters

The banksters are grabbing land and water in Africa for profits at the expense of the survival of the people there. Goldman Sachs and JPMorgan were named specifically in an article on the reports of these inhumane actions. When will the people wise up and realize these evil people have an evil agenda, they aren't just accidentally doing this stuff? The Oilygarch Bankster agenda is to reduce the world population to 500 million they select and to have all the world's resources to themselves. CHARLES MICHAEL COUCH, BED-STUY

Horoscope

II Gemini May 21-June 20. Whether it comes from a good friend or a stranger, any kind of proposal brought to you should be examined for strings attached. Thoroughly check things out first.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Resources shared by you and your mate might be in hot demand from each party. Instead of letting a blowup occur, give in to certain demands.
♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. When having work or a service done for you, be on the spot as much as possible in order to prevent a bad job. Unless you're there to check on what's being done, things could go awry.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Guard against not only your own extravagance urges, but against friends who prod you into spending far more than you should. Both situations bear watching very closely.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Instead of attempting to do far too many things at once, concentrate on only one job at a time, regardless of how much needs to be accomplished. You'll botch up the works if you don't.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Don't even try to talk another into doing something for you that she or he knows you can easily do for yourself.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. If your fear of losing is taking precedence over your will to win, you've already been defeated before you've even begun. Believe to achieve.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. As resistance to your aims stiffens, so will your possibilities for accomplishment. In order to get things done, you must be tenacious. Fight for your right to get what you want.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Think before you act, instead of creating unnecessary problems through uninformed, knee-jerk reactions. Be your own sagacious adviser, not your worst enemy.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Be realistic in assessing your finances and then budget your spending accordingly. Don't pauper yourself through extravagance and, or, borrowing more from others.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Unless you focus on a specific goal or objective, something you've wanted for a long time that you believe could help you will slip through your fingers.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. If you want to maintain a healthy perspective on issues, temper your grandiose conceptions with a large dose of realism. A balanced outlook will bring you the best results.

The alterna-bride

- ◆ Nevermind the outdated notions of virginal purity that come pinned to the traditional white dress — sometimes a woman just wants to wear color
- ◆ Here's some advice about how to do it without blending in with the guests

Go for shimmer

Halston Heritage plisse gown, $995, www.cusp.com

A wedding is probably the only day in your life where it's perfectly okay for you to expect to be the center of attention. Milk it for all its worth — without going all bridezilla — by opting for metallic fabrics or crystal embellishments that make it clear who the woman of the hour is.

Make the most of your florals

Stella McCartney, $2,399, www.stellamccartney.com

You've chosen a sweet, classic dress for your city hall ceremony that you can actually wear again and again — yay! — but you don't want to get lost in the mix of relatives and friends showing up to the big, fancy after-party. Carry a lush, bold bouquet to make sure there's no question who the wedding photographer should be looking for in the crowd.

Color on a budget

ASOS pleated dress, $259, www.asos.com

For you romantic types, a soft, pastel pink can be just as sweet as ivory.

Little white dress

With ivory being such a big trend for spring-summer '11, the shops are full of pretty frocks that scream wedding without looking saccharine or uncool. A bride-to-be could easily find her dress without ever setting foot into a bridal salon — and wear it over and over after the big day.

The organized bride

► A wedding planner isn't in everyone's budget ► Organizing the cake, flowers and your guest list is a recipe for stress ► We've got expert tips to help you stay sane and glitch-proof

As the founder and CEO of Swank Productions (www.swankproductions.com), Maya Kalman makes brides' dreams come true on a daily basis. She shares how she's made her company one of New York's top event planning and design firms — and can save you some serious cash and sanity.

TINA CHADHA
tina.chadha@metro.us

Keep in touch with the caterers

You should touch base with your caterers six to eight weeks before, a month before and the week of your wedding, advises Kalman. "The Monday before the big day, you want to contact every vendor and make sure they have all the information they need, you have all the information you need or if there are any last-minute changes."

► PRO TIP: You should have every vendor's cell phone number, advises Kalman.

Put your money on the photos

"Photography is probably the most important expense because at the end of the day, the only thing that lasts besides your marriage are the photos," says Kalman. She also advises splurging on a hair and makeup artist.

► Know your timeline
"You need to ask the venue, 'How many hours does my team have to set up and break down?'" says Kalman. "They might only give you an hour, in which case those lanterns hanging from the ceiling of the tent might not be physically able to happen."

► Have an emergency kit
In it, Kalman says to pack: double-stick tape, mints, lots of safety pins in all sizes, a sewing kit, Band-Aids and spray deodorant.

► DIY project cutoff
"My rule is: The Tuesday or Wednesday before the wedding weekend, if your DIY project is not completed, just let it go," says Kalman. "Your guests are not going to be disappointed if you don't have a rhinestone glued on to the 'I' in your name. It's better to be calm, stress-free and well-rested."

FOR TIPS ON HOW TO PERSONALIZE YOUR WEDDING GO TO WWW.METRO.US/STYLE

Plan for the worst

Been dreaming about an outdoor wedding? You have to accept the fact that it might rain on your big day. "I really try to get my brides to imagine her worst-case scenario, and get herself OK with the idea that if something changes, and say, it's not gorgeous outside, it's still going to be magical and gorgeous inside," explains Kalman. "It's really important to keep a positive attitude on your wedding day because negativity rolls down from the bride."

► PRO TIP: Planning an outdoor affair? Kalman recommends keeping a tent on hold. "They require a deposit and then a couple of days before, based on the weather reports, you can determine whether you're going to actually need it or not," she says.

Want to take a flower arranging class?

Hyppolite is holding a workshop on June 26 on arrangements for the summer table. For $175 you get materials, design tips and cocktails. E-mail her at kathleen@katflower.com to register or for more information.

Flowers, the perfect mix

► Approach your wedding bouquets the way you would your wardrobe, with a mix of budget and pricey blooms ► Three tips to save on flowers

Bouquets vs. table arrangements

"There are three elements of a wedding: Personal flowers, ceremony flowers and reception flowers," explains flower designer Kathleen Hyppolite. "I ask all my clients where they really want to focus their money, and then cut back on the other areas. Do they want a fabulous bouquet?"

Or do they want beautiful flowers at the reception? If you want beautiful flowers at your reception, maybe your nine bridesmaids don't carry big bouquets. You do something smaller for them." Hyppolite also suggests getting creative. "Instead of bouquets, maybe you can do flowers in the hair or you can carry a single perfect bloom."

Mix high and low

"If you have an expensive flower that you love, like the peony, maybe you use it more sparingly," suggests Hyppolite. "Peonies are a beautiful full bloom, so there is bang for your buck with that. You don't need a whole lot of them. Your florist can pair the peonies with a rose that's just as full. It's like pairing a Club Monaco skirt with a beautiful Loro Piana cashmere sweater. Or J.Crew flats and a Gucci bag. That peony or that expensive flower will automatically elevate the other flowers in the arrangement."

—TINA CHADHA

Shop in season

"The best ways to keep your wedding flower cost down is to use what's local, available and in season," says Hyppolite.

Rather than going all out on a bouquet made solely of peonies, mix in less expensive flowers that are just as beautiful.

For the wedding guests: Rules to break and to keep

DOs

- Do show up to the wedding on time. You don't want to be remembered as that lame latecomer friend who interrupted the ceremony.
- Do RSVP in a timely fashion. It's rude to make any kind of party hostess chase you for an answer.
- Do wear a smile. Even if you're not on the best of terms with the other guests, act like it. The day is not about you.

DON'Ts

- Don't wear head-to-toe black. It's not a funeral.
- Don't wear anything too flashy. You'll look like you're trying to upstage the bride, and that's just not cool.
- If you're single, don't make a big fuss over not having a plus one. Catering is expensive. Just be thankful that you were invited.

PGA MUSIC VIDEO

'OH OH OH'

Bubba Watson wears overalls in a new music video.
He could be wearing a major championship smile on Sunday.

► The course:

Congressional doesn't have the sex appeal or the players' ire of a usual Open course. At 7,574 yards, it certainly favors the long bombers but won't punish them as harshly with its graduated rough. The winner will likely be five or six shots under par.

► In closing: The back nine measures 170 yards longer than the front but has just one par 5.

The par 4 18th is a killer and should set up high drama Sunday, measuring 523 yards.

► Pretenders:

Defending champ Graeme McDowell missed the cut at Augusta and shot a 79 in the final round of the Players. World No. 1 Luke Donald has the game's hottest flat stick but has missed three of the last four Open weekends. Rory McIlroy, 22, won't immediately bounce back from that final-round 80 at Augusta.

Odds: L. Westwood: 12-1
L. Donald: 12-1
P. Mickelson: 14-1
R. McIlroy: 16-1
S. Stricker: 20-1
M. Kuchar: 22-1
K.J. Choi: 22-1
D. Johnson: 25-1
H. Mahan: 25-1

► Contenders: Phil Mickelson has been the runner-up in five Opens but will be able to recover from wayward tee shots here. K.J. Choi has won twice at Congressional and claimed the Players last month.

Dustin Johnson choked away the 54-hole lead at Pebble last year but ranks fourth in driving and second in birdies on Tour in 2011.

► Eye on: Bubba Watson. The dude does more than sport serious chest cabbage in the recently released "Oh Oh Oh" music video, he also sports a sick swing that has generated two wins this year.

► Replacing Tiger Woods:

We've seen 10 different winners in the last 10 majors. McDowell figured to take over the throne as the game's most dominant player but has crumbled in 2011 after three wins and a Ryder Cup victory in 2010. The simple answer? No one replaces Tiger. It's a physical issue, not a mental one for the former world

No. 1, who will reclaim his rightful spot on top whenever he returns to full strength.

STEALING FROM THE BACK

Fantasy sports

ADAM

ALEVITAN@METRO.US

Breathe easy. The players and owners are talking and there is almost certainly going to be an NFL season. Now get nervous — your fantasy draft is going down in about two months.

Last week, we mentioned some overvalued players like Peyton Hillis, Tony Gonzalez and Marques Colston. Now we'll move on to the sexy category — undervalued players based on averaged draft position:

with injuries during his two-year career. His monster upside is well worth the injury risk considering his 10th-round ADP.

Jordy boy

Jordy Nelson burst onto the scene in the Super Bowl, catching nine passes for 140 yards with a touchdown. Now Donald Driver is a year older and James Jones may walk in free agency. Nelson is the No. 2/3 receiver on the best offense in football.

Hoop dreams

Jimmy Graham is a college basketball player/NFL tight end. Sound familiar? In the vein of Tony Gonzalez and Antonio Gates, Graham is going to be a red-zone target for the Saints.

Matthew Stafford's offense is built for a big fantasy season.

MLB trading

Here are three to target in trade talks as we approach the halfway mark:

1 Carlos Gonzalez, OF, COL — His numbers are way down off last year's breakout, but do not fear. CarGo is one of the top talents in the game.

2 Mark Teixeira, 1B, NYY — Baseball's most notorious second-half hitter figures to raise his average by 10-20 points.

3 Adam Dunn, 1B, CWS — The Big Dunnkey is finding out how hard it is to change leagues so late in a career. He'll get a read on pitchers soon.

NBA news

Prince James

► LeBron James' epic choke in the Finals is alarming — but not from a fantasy perspective. One bad series won't knock him out of the top two in next year's drafts as he battles with Kevin Durant for the No. 1 overall spot.

Top MLB pickups

Matt Thornton

► RP, White Sox
Sergio Santos is melting down, opening the door for a hot Thornton to get his old job back.

Mike Moustakas

► 3B, Royals
It's a surprise he got promoted this early, but "Moose" is ready. Value at a thin position.

Kenley Jansen

► RP, Dodgers
With Vicente Padilla headed for surgery and Jonathan Broxton still out, Jansen has a shot at saves.

Yankees getting a taste of life without the Captain

Derek Jeter's stability at shortstop has been superb for the Yankees but has stunk for minor leaguers.

The Yankees have not had much need for other shortstops in the system since Jeter's rookie season in 1996. Besides his 11 All-Star appearances, Jeter has been on the disabled just four other times (1998, 2000, '01 and '03) before the team placed the soon-to-be 37-year-old there Tuesday with a strained right calf.

"I don't want him to be Derek Jeter. I want him to be himself. He's an exciting young player."

GIRARDI ON NUNEZ

"You probably didn't feel like you had a good shot at being a starter," manager Joe Girardi said of past prospects at short. "It has been long time since Derek

[has been hurt]. To be the shortstop in the organization probably hasn't been the most comfortable position, especially if you were putting up big numbers."

Since Jeter became the regular shortstop, 11 players have held the position for Triple-A teams in Columbus and Scranton. Erick Almonte (2003) and Eduardo Nunez are the only ones used to replace Jeter for an extended period at the big-league level.

"I know it's going to be a hard job," said Nunez, who hit a homer last night versus Texas. "It's not going to be easy to replace him." LARRY FLEISHER

► Derek Jeter looks out of place out of the lineup.

Young Jets go camping without their counselors

► Sanchez, Revis captain 'Jets East' ► Players simulate minicamp drills
► Heated negotiations between NFL owners, union reportedly break down

Try as they may, there still ain't nothin' like the real thing.

More than 40 Jets players worked out over the past three days on the campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison, N.J., in a training camp-like setting scheduled and organized by the players themselves. Still, there was something missing.

"It is good to get the guys together and get some good work in but it's a shame to not have the coaches in," center Nick Mangold said.

There were, of course, no coaches nor management on hand due to the NFL lockout. Last year's playbook, though, was copied by veterans to be distributed to the younger players. David Harris, Bart Scott and Darrelle Revis handled leadership roles on defense while Sanchez, Mangold and Brandon Moore huddled up the offense.

► Mark Sanchez led a similar camp, "Jets West," last month.

dled up the offense.

Players replicated the three-day minicamp environment as much as possible. The first day was "basic stuff," said Sanchez, with the second day building endurance and rhythm and the final day focused on red-zone execution. All three days included an hour of film study and extensive time with the playbook.

"The 7-on-7 was pretty competitive," the third-year quarterback said. "I think it worked the opposite of a normal offseason, guys are used to being together so much. Now, we are apart so long, we couldn't wait to get together." KRISTIAN DYER
